

U. S. SUBMARINE F-4 HELPLESS AT BOTTOM OF HONOLULU HARBOR

DREW OF NINETEEN MEN
LOSE LIVES IN WORST DIS-ASTER OF ITS KIND IN NAVAL HISTORY.

RESCUE IS IMPROBABLE

Trapped in 35 Fathoms of Water
Chances Are Now Very Slight
That Aid Can Reach Sunken Vessel.

BULLETIN.
Honolulu, March 26.—The search for the United States submarine, F-4, which was submerged in the harbor here yesterday morning and failed to reappear, was without definite results.

It was reported that early this morning a grappling cable caught on some unknown object which aroused hope that the submarine had been found. Some experts express the belief that the men in the submarine cannot be alive now.

Washington, March 26.—Trapped at the bottom of the Honolulu harbor, under at least 35 fathoms of water—probably more—the United States submarine F-4 lies helpless with her commander, and at least 18 men, in what is feared to be one of the worst submarine boat disasters in the world's naval history.

More than 24 hours of every effort known to naval science to raise the sunken boat or get a signal from her crew have failed. Her marker buoy, which should have come to the top to mark her resting place in such an emergency, has failed to appear. The surface of the water at 30 fathoms is covered with a film of oil from the submerged boat's tanks.

Naval department officials fear one of two calamities: that the F-4 struck a rock and her crew was drowned in the rushing waters, or that there was an internal explosion.

While hope for rescue has not been given up, the gravest fears have been entertained that they may have been lost in the first submarine boat disaster of the United States navy.

On the face of matters, the reports from the Honolulu naval station which said the F-4 disappeared at 9:15 o'clock yesterday forenoon after making a series of maneuvers and that constant attempts at diving had failed to locate her definitely, naval officers fear that the boat may have slipped over a ledge on the harbor bottom of the harbor in some deep pocket, out of reach of help.

Although fitted with the latest device in safety aircraft, through which a depth of 35 fathoms, the men on the F-4 apparently have been unable to use them, and that fact, coupled with the fact that they have not reached their marked buoy, makes officials fear the worst has happened.

Washington, March 26.—The submarine F-4 is sunk in 120 fathoms of water—720 feet—Honolulu dispatches report. Naval officers here have hoped whatever that any of her crew is alive. At such a depth the submarine must be crushed and full of water.

Early today the navy department received this dispatch from Commander Smith, commanding the first submarine division of the Pacific fleet at Honolulu.

Commander Smith's report for submerged run states that the F-4 was in position to surface. Entrance of harbor with thirty fathoms of water covered with fuel oil. Diving and dragging. Commander Smith's mention of the entrance of the harbor being covered with oil created great fear of the navy department. It is feared that the F-4 struck a rock, although it is pointed out that the vessel's oil to lighten her burden.

BILL IS DIRECTED AT DISCRIMINATION THAT AIDS MONOPOLY

Measure Which Would Prevent Discrimination Lessening Competition. Reported from Assembly Committee.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison, March 26.—The first attempt at this session to enact anti-discrimination legislation was seen today in the introduction through the senate committee on judiciary of a bill applying certain provisions of the federal anti-trust act to the sale of commodities within Wisconsin.

This subject was covered by two or three bills in the 1913 legislature, all of which had hard sledding. Speaker Hull introducing the only bill to survive.

Today the bill was directed at such discriminations as tended "substantially to lessen competition," and to create a monopoly in any particular business. Damages in three times the loss suffered are made recoverable.

Senator Bickler attacked the "Morse" or second choice law as a "Charley puzzle, complicated and ineffectual. Election officials everywhere detect it. Action on this bill to abolish it was postponed.

The Pullman Hansen bill abolishing the state athletic commission received an adverse committee report and the Hedding bill, empowering the commission to revoke licenses of clubs with an amendment excluding fourth class cities from the law was favorably reported.

The assembly committee on transportation reported for indefinite postponement a joint resolution asking congress to take action to prevent interstate commerce commission putting into effect the 2 1/2 cents per mile passenger rate for railroads. Both houses adjourned until Monday evening.

THAW APPEAL CASE IS ARGUED TODAY

Seek Reversal of Justice Page's Ruling Forbidding Return to New Hampshire.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, March 26.—The appeal of Harry K. Thaw from the decision of Supreme Court Justice Page refusing to order his return to New Hampshire after Thaw's acquittal here on a charge of conspiracy, was on the agenda of the appellate division for argument today.

Two justices of the appellate division of the supreme court said today there was a doubt in their minds whether the state of New York was within its rights "in ousting" Harry K. Thaw after his acquittal here on a conspiracy charge on which he was extradited from New Hampshire and returning him to the state hospital for criminal insane at Matteawan.

They were Justice Ingraham, presiding, and Justice Scott. To voice their views they interrupted Franklin Kennedy, special attorney general, in charge of the case against Thaw while he was arguing before the appellate division against an appeal taken by Thaw's counsel from a decision of Supreme Court Justice Page refusing a motion to return Thaw to New Hampshire.

Justice Scott agreed with Justice Ingraham and informed Mr. Kennedy that the question at issue was not so much the return of Thaw to Matteawan as maintaining the honor of the state of New York.

San Francisco, March 26.—Vice President Marshall and Assistant Secretary of the Navy Franklin D. Roosevelt, with the naval aide, formally called today at all the foreign buildings at the Panama-Pacific Exposition. The vice president and Mrs. Marshall and their party will attend a luncheon dinner and reception at the California building tonight.

Italian Officers In Conference On Austrian Border

ITALY MAKES PLANS TO INVADE AUSTRIA BY WAY OF SERBIA

Italians Will Attack Austria With Aid of Serbs and Montenegrins If War Is Declared.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Rome, via Paris, March 26.—Efforts of Prince Von Bulow, the German ambassador, to bring about an agreement between the Italian and Austrian governments regarding the cessation of territory, have definitely failed, according to the Agenzia Nazionale, which says it is informed that when the last courier from Vienna brought to the ambassador Austria's terms they were of such a nature that he did not consider it worth while to submit them to the foreign office here. It is reported here that Prince Von Bulow has resigned the role of mediator.

Rome, March 26.—Italy's final step in her preparation for war with Austria have been taken. The nation's resources are being mobilized. The fall of Przemysl has intensified the popular clamor for war, as the opinion seems to be general that Austria would fall an easy victim to the hundred thousands of men and guns, and the thousands of miles of splendidly equipped troops that Italy could pour into the duel empire.

Mass Troops on Border.
While thousands of troops are massed along the Austrian frontier, Italy's plan does not include an attack upon Austria through Italy, but across the borders of Montenegro and Serbia.

Every accessible line of approach into Austria from the south has its barrier fort, usually an armored work in a commanding position for long-range fighting, and an auxiliary battery in the valleys below, armed with quick-firing and machine guns. Armored observatories, powerful searchlights, underground cables, and signal stations aid in the defense. These are the exterior works. The interior, which just out like a bastion into the Lombard-Venetian plain, has a group of forts at Riva, another at Trento, and a third at Bolzano, to protect the railroad junction. Italy, an immensely strong fortress at Trento which may be described as the keep of the Tyrol, and is surrounded by a circle of batteries and armored forts.

The invasion of Austria by way of the Tyrol would therefore be a very arduous proceeding, entailing much loss of valuable time and cost of human life.

Sympathetic Relationship.
But by invading the dual empire by way of Montenegro, Albania, and Serbia, Italy's plan of attack is greatly facilitated. Serbia and Montenegro are already at war with Austria, and their bitterness against her during the last six or seven decades has been quite as great, if indeed not more intense, than that of Italy. The ruler of the Black Mountain is the father-in-law of Victor Emmanuel III, who is a brother-in-law of the king of Serbia. Italy, in that region of Albania comprised in the narrow strip of territory lying between Durazzo, on the sea shore, and the Serbian frontier, and between Avlona and Scutari, is largely populated by Italians, or by Albanians of Italian descent.

The racial ties between the Italians and the Albanians are very close indeed, and the Italians are about the only foreign people whom the Albanians do not consider in the light of aliens. Once on Austrian territory, by pursuing this plan of campaign Italy would encounter but few strongholds or fortified works of any great importance to bar her way. Moreover, her invading forces would be welcomed by the Albanians, and the portions of Emperor Francis Joseph's dominions, among people for the greater part of Slavonic race, and whose sympathies are all with Serbia and with Russia—that is to say, with the allies—in the present conflict.

Trouble at Durazzo.
Rome, March 26.—The situation at Durazzo in Albania would again appear to be serious, according to dispatches coming to Rome. The insurgents are bombarding the ports and the authorities are not successful in persuading Essad Pasha, the Turkish provisional president, to leave the country. Several cannon shots during the bombardment struck the residence of Essad Pasha, docks and public buildings also suffered.

FLOOD THREATENS ELLENSBURG, WASH.

Old Government Dam Breaks, Releasing Wall of Water Twenty-five Feet High.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Ellensburg, Wash., March 26.—An old government dam at Lake Kachess broke today, according to reports received here. It is also reported that a wall of water 25 feet high is running toward Ellensburg. An unofficial report says that Ole Blum and Easton are under water. Residents along the river here have been ordered to evacuate.

ACTS OF VIOLENCE AGAINST AMERICANS BY TURKISH TROOPS

American Ambassador Urges That Turk Government Protect American Mission at Urumiah.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Tiflis, March 26, via Petrograd, March 26.—Turkish troops have committed further acts of violence at the American mission in Urumiah, Persia, according to a message received by the local viceroy from Gordon Padlock, the American consul at Tabriz.

Mr. Padlock transmits a message from Missionary Robert M. Larabee at Urumiah, to the effect that the Turkish consul is trying to force his way into the mission compound with a number of Turkish regular troops and removed some Assyrian Christian refugees who were then massacred. The Turks also beat and insulted American missionaries.

Demand Protection.
Washington, March 26.—Under instructions from the state department, American Ambassador Morgenthau at Constantinople is urging the Turkish government to protect the American mission at Urumiah.

So far there is no official information here of the extent of the danger. Officials fear the Turks can only with difficulty exert control over the irregular Turkish forces reported operating in eastern Persia.

New York Telegram.
New York, March 26.—A telegram at Gulistan, a large village near Urumiah, Persia, have been shot by Kurds, the women violated, an American missionary and sixty-five refugees taken from French and American missions have been handed over to the Turkish government.

The police who are investigating have learned that Jaskulski met a woman known after leaving his wife, and that he helped to unload a boat, although he was regularly employed in a local shop.

When the body was found there were bruises on his nose and right eye, giving the impression they had been received before death.

TO TAKE UP BILLS ON CONSOLIDATION

Administration Measures Will be Given Early Consideration—Schedule Hearing Thursday.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., March 26.—It has been determined that the administration measures for consolidating state departments will be taken immediately. The assembly committee on agriculture announced it will give a hearing next Thursday on the bill of the special investigating committee to consolidate the various agricultural departments. Several bills relating to the state fair and the state dealer at wholesale are scheduled for hearing yesterday but it was decided to lay these over until next Thursday and take all bills, including the administration measure, up at the same time.

A new bill has been reported to the assembly and will be referred to the judiciary committee, providing that no person may conduct or engage in any business in this state unless he is an elector in the state. This bill was introduced by Assemblyman Killa of Milwaukee. It provides that no person may engage in any occupation, profession or business, the laws of the state or ordinances of any city unless such person is an elector.

An interesting anti-trading bill has also been introduced by Assemblyman Killa. It relates only to the city of Milwaukee, however, and provides it shall be unlawful for "any dealer at wholesale or retail" to invite or solicit any person other than duly licensed dealers to purchase spirituous liquors in any quantity. This bill was also carried by the assembly.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, March 26.—The steamer Delmira has been sunk by a German submarine off Boulogne in the English channel. The members of the crew were given ten minutes to leave the vessel. Subsequently they landed on the Isle of Wight.

The Delmira was a British steamer of about 2,011 tons net. She was engaged in the trans-Atlantic trade and arrived at Havre from St. John, N. B., on March 14. She was built in 1906.

FIND BODY FLOATING IN RIVER AT RACINE

Mystery Surrounds Finding of Body of August Jaskulski, Shop Employee—Missing Since Saturday.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Racine, March 26.—Considerable mystery surrounds the finding of the body of August Jaskulski, 46, float-sawyer in the river, Thursday afternoon. Jaskulski had been missing since March 20. He left his home accompanied by his wife last Saturday to make a number of purchases, but left before starting back home. That was the last time his wife saw him alive.

The police who are investigating have learned that Jaskulski met a woman known after leaving his wife, and that he helped to unload a boat, although he was regularly employed in a local shop.

FOUR BADLY BURNED BY KEROSENE FIRE

Father and Daughter Are Not Expected to Live as Result of Careless Act.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Sheboygan, March 26.—Henry Roedink and his daughter, Wilma, aged 11, were fatally burned this morning when a fire started from the ignition of kerosene, which was poured into a kitchen stove at their home, a quarter of a mile from the village of Oostburg.

Anna, 13, was badly burned about the head and arms, but succeeded in tearing the burning clothing off. Neil, 10, jumped through a window, saving himself. The father was so badly burned in an effort to save a daughter, it is feared he cannot recover. He tried to run out of the burning building.

Mrs. Roedink died in December, leaving her husband and ten children, the oldest of which is 16 and the youngest 4 months.

Appears in Boston Court and Has Case Adjourned to April 15th.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Boston, Mass., March 26.—Werner Horn was arraigned in the federal court today on indictments charging illegal transportation of explosives from New York to Vancouver, B. C., where he attempted to destroy the international railroad bridge. On the representation of his counsel he was prepared to plead, the proceedings will be continued on April 15.

CIGAR DEALER FINED FOR EXHIBITING WAR KNIFE LABELLED POISON.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, March 26.—The maximum fine of $250 and costs has been imposed on a firm of Manchester cigar dealers for exhibiting in their window a "Genuine War Trophy" card stating: "Genuine War Trophy. Poisoned throwing knife, kukri, now being used by the Gurkhas with great success against the Germans."

War News Summary.

Another British merchantman has been sent to the bottom as a result of Germany's submarine warfare, the steamer Delmira being torpedoed in the English channel.

Infantry attacks were made by both French and German troops yesterday. Each side reports the other's attacks repulsed.

The status of military operations in northern Poland remains in question. Little is known except that a battle of importance over a long front is under way. Petrograd dispatches convey the idea that the Germans have all but abandoned their attempt to break through the Russian front, and penetrate the Warsaw region from the north. Turkey's official Berlin statement says the Russians have defeated in engagements to the east of Augustowo.

Attempts to arrange a settlement of the differences between Italy and Austria apparently have met with no success. A Rome newspaper states that Prince Von Bulow, German ambassador at Rome, has abandoned his efforts to bring about an agreement. In the Balkans there are increasing signs of unrest. A Bucharest dispatch says the fall of Przemysl has increased the popular demand in Roumania for intervention on the side of the allies.

Relations between Turkey and Bulgaria have become tense. Field Marshal Von Der Goltz has also left Constantinople for Sofia, Bulgaria, and Admiral Sarrailh has gone to Adrianople, which defenses are being erected to guard against possible attack by Bulgaria. Although severe weather continues at the Dardanelles, efforts by the allied fleet to clear the straits of mines are being made. Turkey has fired on mine sweepers Wednesday, but ceased the attack after two British battleships opened on them.

Information has come from Austrian sources of the Russian claim to a great victory in the Carpathians.

RUSSIA CONTINUES IN EFFORT TO TAKE CARPATHIAN PASSES

Bucharest Report Gives Invaders a Victory at Uzkok—Petrograd Claims Success at Lukow.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, March 26.—As has been predicted by military observers, since the fall of Przemysl, Russia is now directing her chief offensive against the Austrian front in the Carpathians. In the northern sector, the Russian forces are making little effort to advance, evidently being content to hold Von Hartmann in check, but desperate fighting is being waged in the Carpathians, where the Russian are thrusting back the Austrian along the Dukla-Uzkok line.

Credit reports via Bucharest credit Russia with a great victory at Uzkok, while Petrograd unofficially claims important success in the capture of fortified positions near Lukow.

These formidable positions were taken by storm with the Austrians losing machine guns and over 5,000 prisoners. Unofficial reports also suggest the Russians with further success in Bukovina.

Vienna admits the importance of the Russian offensive in the mountain passes, but at the same time declares her fierce attacks on the positions.

Politically no decisive movements have been made to increase the number of combatants, but it is freely rumored that the mission at Rome of Prince Von Bulow, the German ambassador, has failed so completely that all negotiations between Austria and Italy have been suspended.

Romania, impressed by the fall of Przemysl, and to be contemplating immediate action on the side of the allies.

Claim Russian Losses.
Berlin, March 26.—Inclined to news given out today by the Overseas agency, is the following: "Budapest reports that Russian forces have suffered defeat in fighting to the north of Gyor, and that the Austrian troops have crossed the Russian frontier in this vicinity."

Durazzo, a seaport of Albania, was shelled yesterday by Albanian insurgents.

NEW RESTRICTIONS ON GERMAN BAKERS

Forbidden to Bake Cakes Requiring Yeast—Will Check Consumption of Easter Confection.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Berlin, via London, March 26.—Additional restrictions have been placed by the authorities upon bakers and confectioners in this city, and that the bakers are forbidden to bake cakes which require the use of yeast or similar preparations. The baking in homes of any cakes, however, between March 26 and April 15 also has been forbidden. The latter order is issued to check the consumption of flour for Easter cakes.

FIND NO CONTRABAND ON BOARD FINLAND

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

NEW MOVE IS EXPECTED IN BALKANS

GERMAN COMMANDERS OF TURKISH FORCES HASTEN TO SOFIA AND ADRIANOPLE.

FEAR BULGAR ATTACK?

Turks Fortify Border Cities, Indicating Concern That Bulgarians May Take Some Hostile Action.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, March 26.—The Exchange Telegraph company received a dispatch from Athens saying Field Marshal Von Der Goltz, who has been in Constantinople for some months past, representing German military interests in Bulgaria, the Turkish capital for General Liman Von Sanders, the commander of the Turkish forces in Bulgaria, has left Constantinople for Adrianople.

The departure of these two officers from Constantinople, one the Turkish capital, and the other, for Adrianople, the second most important city in European Turkey, and not far from the Bulgarian frontier, indicates some sudden development in the Balkan situation which is causing Turkish concern.

A dispatch under date of March 24, from Athens, said the Turks were fortifying Luleburgaz, 45 miles south east of Adrianople, and other places in the Balkan situation which is causing Turkish concern.

Mine Sweepers Busy.
Paris, March 26.—Mine sweepers continued their operations in the Dardanelles all of Wednesday night, according to dispatches from Penedos correspondents of the Havas agency. They were protected by the guns of cruisers from the allied fleet, but their work was made difficult by a violent storm.

Mines Prevent Advance.
London, March 26.—The naval officers who participated in the Dardanelles campaign last week in the Dardanelles, cables a correspondent at Athens of the Reuters news company, have expressed the belief but for mines the narrow of the Dardanelles could have been forced March 18, the day the allied fleet so fiercely bombarded the Turkish forts on their side of the narrow waterway.

It is the opinion of certain British officers that the forts themselves would not be able to bar the passage of the strait.

Berlin Wireless Report.
Berlin, March 26.—Wireless to Sayville, March 26.—Army headquarters today gave out a report on the progress of the war which reads:

"On the heights of the Meuse south-east of Verdun and near Combreux the French yesterday again attacked strongly in an attempt to take the German position, but a determined engagement they were repulsed."

"The fighting at Hartmannsweilerkopf still continues. The Russian attack on the east of Augustowo have been repulsed."

DISMISS COMPLAINT ON LUMBER CHARGE

Interstate Commerce Commission Finds Northwestern Road Did Not Impose High Lumber Rates.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, March 26.—Complaint of the Northern Pine Manufacturers' association that the Northwestern and other railroads charge unreasonable rates on lumber from producing points in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan, to points in Iowa, Nebraska and Missouri, was dismissed today by the interstate commerce commission.

The Southern Railway and other transcontinental railroads were rechecked today by the interstate commerce commission to remove unjust discrimination in the classification of lumber and other bulky commodities, especially sash and doors, in the territories of Wisconsin, Illinois and Iowa, and Oregon and Washington. Complaints of the same roads charge that the same destinations were not sustained by the commission.

ASK PERMISSION TO UNLOAD THE WILHELMINA'S CARGO

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, March 26.—A solicitor of the treasury today sent a letter to the attorneys of the American steamer Wilhelmmina, saying that because of complaints concerning delay in hearing of the case of this vessel before a prize court, application would be made to the prize court to unload the cargo.

TRUTHS-HURT.

Members of the retail liquor dealers' association object to the insinuation that they are not living up to the agreement signed by the members a year ago when the license and no license campaign was at its height. They feel that statements that liquor is a slur at the organization as a whole. Of course it is. No one contradicts that statement, but that such a condition exists is deplorable if true. It is a reflection not only on the city administration, but on the retail liquor dealers' association. There are members of this organization that believe it may be true. They are not in sympathy with the proposition and some have even gone so far as to withdraw from the organization entirely. They have become disgusted with the laxity with which the city attorney has prosecuted the case brought to his attention last November of violation of the closing ordinance, and believe that later infractions have been due to the fact that the men who have ignored the compact signed have been influenced by the fact that they felt immune from prosecution in view of the laxity of the city attorney in the one case.

Prohibition is coming. The only question is when. The men who are fighting for what they term their existence realize this and they should govern their actions to postpone it as long as possible rather than seek to make all the money they can as quickly as possible. The legislature has its fight on over the amendments to the Baker law. The merits of this proposed change need not be discussed at this time. They will be decided by the legislature, but it is safe to say that the final vote will have a lasting effect upon the state as a whole.

But the fact remains that complaint is made right here in Janesville and it is up to the city authorities to investigate it. The city attorney is in a part responsible for this state of affairs. The taxpayers demand some action for or against violation of the law. If an injustice has been done in arresting a saloonkeeper, then why not strike the case off the docket. If not why not prosecute?

Madison and Beloit are voting on the question of prohibition this spring, and while Janesville does not have the question raised, it may be by this time another year, and the only reason that it will be brought into prominence is that the law is being violated and that violators are not punished. The prohibition wave has swept over a larger portion of the United States than is realized by people who have not given the subject close attention. Here is a summary of the territory it has engulfed since the beginning of the present year:

Alabama—Statutory prohibition enacted January 22, to become effective July 1, 1915.

Arkansas—Statutory prohibition bill signed by Governor Hayes, February 6, to take effect June 1, 1915, except in Little Rock, where licenses expire January 1, 1916.

Iowa—Completed passage of repeal of Muley law and restoration of statewide prohibition by constitutional amendment February 18, to take effect January 1, 1916.

Utah—Statutory prohibition completed its legislative passage March 1, to take effect first Monday in June, 1916. The governor will sign it. House vote, 40 to 5.

The area covered by previous enactments is as follows:

Arizona—Constitutional prohibition, in effect January 1, 1915.

Colorado—Constitutional prohibition, in effect January 1, 1915.

Georgia—Statutory prohibition, in effect since January 1, 1908.

Kansas—Constitutional prohibition since 1880. Under the law of 1909 intoxicating liquor could be sold for medical, scientific and mechanical purposes. The legislature of 1909 passed a law eliminating the three exceptions.

Maine—Statutory prohibition enacted 1831; repealed 1856; re-enacted 1858. Constitutional prohibition adopted 1884.

Mississippi—Statutory prohibition in effect since January 1, 1909.

North Carolina—Statutory prohibition in effect since January 1, 1909.

North Dakota—When North Dakota entered the Union in 1889 the prohibitory clause of the Constitution was voted upon separately and adopted.

Oklahoma—Constitutional prohibition adopted September 17, 1907. November 8, 1910, a local option and high license amendment was submitted to a vote of the people and defeated.

Oregon—Constitutional prohibition adopted November 3, 1914, in effect January 1, 1916.

Tennessee—Prohibition of sale in effect July 1, 1909; prohibition of manufacture in effect January 1, 1910.

Virginia—Statutory prohibition in effect November 1, 1916.

Washington—Statutory prohibition in effect January 1, 1916.

West Virginia—Constitutional prohibition adopted November 5, 1912, in effect July 1, 1914.

STATE AFFAIRS.

There is such a multitude of bills before the present legislature for consideration that it is no wonder that some slip through without the due consideration that those directly affected consider necessary. However, taking all in all the legislature is making wonderful progress. The administration bills which tend toward economy, toward concentration into various departments of different commissions, are now all reported in. They should be given careful consideration and should become laws. Of course it is expected the ultra-progressives will fight them. Of course it is expected that they will be opposed by the men directly affected, but for the general good of the state as a whole they should be passed. For no other reason than the fact that the legislature in the past administration have left a deficit and that in an effort to embarrass the present administration some four million dollars in taxes were not levied last year, so that the appropriations made by the last progressive administration were called for the treasury would be empty. However, that is not here nor there. The voters of the state expect their representatives at Madison to do their duty and seek to reduce state expenses thereby reducing taxation. It is a critical time for the state and the voters are watching closely the action of their representatives to see they are safeguarding their interests. The people have confidence in the governor and the sooner the legislature is impressed with this idea the sooner can we expect definite results.

The assembly passed the amendment to the Baker law at a strenuous session Thursday. It was also excised day in that house. Unfortunately they killed the bill which would exclude the vicious saloons that surround the Soldiers' Home in Milwaukee from the immediate radius of the retreat, and as a consequence it is possible that Wisconsin will lose this institution through the greed of the saloon men for the coin of these veterans of the last wars in which the United States took part, who are inmates through old age or other infirmities.

To Whom It May Concern:

The Williamson Submarine Motion Pictures were shown in this city at which time a special matinee performance was arranged for the children of the city schools. This is never done unless the school authorities have reason to believe the picture has unusual educational merit.

The exhibition given under the direction of Mr. T. J. Monagan is dignified, interesting and highly instructive. If the motion picture is to be conserved as a factor in the educational world, school people must encourage and give financial support to the good things that are produced in this line. The school children of every state should be provided with the instruction to be derived from the Williamson Pictures. I heartily commend the Submarine Exhibition to school authorities.

PURE NEGRO MEMBER OF COLDSTREAM GUARDS SHOWING DEMOCRATIC SPIRIT.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, March 26.—James Slim, a pure negro and a native of Jamaica, has enlisted as a private in the Coldstream Guards. Before the war, it would have been impossible for a negro to join a white regiment in England, let alone one of the proud and most famous of the crack regiments. The fact of Slim's enlistment is a strong indication of the democratic effect of the war.

Slim was in France when the war broke out, and joined the French foreign legion. Wounded in battle, he was sent to a hospital where he expressed the wish to join Kitchener's new army.

Kitchener with the result that he was allowed to enroll in the Coldstream Guards. Slim is now training with the reserve battalion at Windsor.

JANESVILLE MAKES A FINE SHOWING TO COUNTY TREASURER

Delinquent Real Estate Tax This Year Amounts to Only $3,424.74. —Big Income Tax Collection.

Taxpayers of Janesville are prompt in settling their obligations and the tax collecting officials are efficient public servants according to the final tax returns which were made to County Treasurer Livermore on Thursday by City Treasurer George W. Muenchow. Out of a total levy for the city of some $260,000 there remains delinquent and unpaid only $3,424.74, against $3,787.56 a year ago, Muenchow's books disclose.

Income tax collections this year were the largest since the tax has been levied, the total cash collections being $20,819, against $14,141 a year ago. Thirty per cent of the total amount, or $6,245.82, was paid to the county treasurer on Thursday. He in turn will pay to the state $2,051, as against $1,418. The county's share is $4,187.82, as compared with $2,726 in 1914. The delinquent tax for the city amounts to $3,424.74, a considerable portion of which is illegal and will be cancelled.

The state and county tax levied against this city for the year was $33,445, of which $28,772.01, or the state tax, was settled for at the time of the first return in February. The city treasurer accounted for the difference between the two amounts in his final report yesterday. Among the items was the school tax of $11,327.92, against $10,904 a year ago, which amount was retained in the books of the county treasurer. The actual cash transfer on the part of the city to the county was $9,919.15. The city of Beloit is the only tax district in the county that has not made its final report. Beloit's treasurer will make his return on Monday, according to the county treasurer.

"Janesville's showing this year is a remarkably good one," said Mr. Livermore today, "and should be most gratifying to the city officials. It shows a marked improvement over last year."

DELANOV OFFICIALS WITNESSES IN SUIT

Mayor Daniel Baar and City Marshal Jerry Fleming Testify in Reed Versus Collier.

Two Delavan city officials, Mayor Daniel Baar and City Marshal Jerry Fleming, were witnesses in the circuit court today for the plaintiff in the law suit of George E. Reed of Clinton against Dr. C. W. Collier, result of a collision injury case, the result of a collision between Reed on a bicycle and Dr. Collier's automobile on one of the Delavan streets August 12th last. Reed seeks $5,000 damages. The city officials were called to testify in regard to the location and size of the accident which partially obstructed the street where the accident occurred. Deputy Sheriff Williams was also called to give evidence in this connection. It is probable that the money will not be completed in the case before sometime tomorrow, as witnesses are being examined on a mass of details.

MINARD MOTT PASSES AWAY AT ONE TODAY

Old Pioneer of City and Civil War Veteran Expires After Lingered Illness at Jackson Street Home.

Death has taken away another civil war hero from the scanty list. At one o'clock this afternoon, Minard E. Mott was called to the world beyond after a lingering illness, at his home, 328 South Jackson street. He had passed his 74th birthday on the 18th of February last.

Mr. Mott was born in Bern, Switzerland, February 18, 1841. Coming to America and immediately to Wisconsin when a young boy. He was a member of the second Wisconsin cavalry of Company B, having served on to two years in the civil war. He was twice married, his former wife, Josephine Ellingwood, dying in 1890. He was again married in 1891 to Addie Kemmerer, whom he leaves along with a son, Valentine, a stepson, Charles Yates, and three grandchildren of this city. Three brothers and

Soldiers, Sailors, Athletes

Soldiers, sailors, aviators—football players, baseball players, oarsmen, tennis players—find in tea a soothing, comforting and stimulating beverage with no harmful effects.

Good tea soothes the nerves, aids digestion, warms and invigorates. It refreshes after severe mental or physical strain—and in several countries it is served every day in business offices and factories.

Perhaps you never have experienced drinking a cup of good tea.

Arbuckle Brand Teas are pure, rich bodied and full flavored—not light and flavorless. They are peculiarly satisfying to the masculine palate, and are known to have increased the use of tea among men.

We believe that if anyone will give good tea a fair trial, drinking it for several weeks, he will relish it regularly. This has been the experience the world over, and grocers know that "good tea builds trade."

Arbuckle Brand Teas are "first crop" teas—the very best cup quality. You can select any variety you please—Pan Fried Japan, Basket Fried Japan, Oolong, Young Hyson, Gunpowder, Imperial, English Breakfast, Ceylon, India, Java, or Mixed Green and Black—all the same good quality—at a moderate price.

1 lb., 1/2 lb., and 1/4 lb. Cansisters

The surest way to get good teas in good condition is to buy Arbuckle Brand Teas from your grocer. It is easy to make delicious tea from any variety.

WOMAN'S PAGE

SIDE TALKS

By RUTH K. CAMERON

ONE REASON FOR SELFISHNESS.
When a fortress is besieged without and there is also a traitor inside, who wants to let the enemy have his way, that fortress doesn't stand much chance, does it?

Well, that is just the position in which people who are ultra unselfish put their friends and themselves.
A married friend of mine has a widowed sister living with her. The younger woman is an intensely social person who is always in demand. She receives innumerable invitations to take part in the social, the church and the club life of the community, many of which she accepts, while the older sister stays home and looks out for her children.

What "They" Say.
Inevitably there is more or less criticism. "They" whisper that the younger sister is selfish and imposes on her older sister.
The younger woman senses this critical attitude and it hurts. "Perhaps I am selfish," she says to the other one, but it really isn't so much. She doesn't care so much for going about and she simply does not go to the club life with the children. And she really seems to enjoy having me go about more than going herself. You know I love to go and you can't think how hard it is to stand out against her urging when it coincides with what I want so much.

Of course it's hard. Why shouldn't it be when the enemy without the fortress is in league with the traitor within?
Selfishness is the easiest habit in the world to acquire and when you have someone constantly pushing you towards it, it is almost impossible not to slide easily and unconsciously into it.

At the time when the worst offenders in the line of ultra unselfishness are usually the ones who are forming their characters, at a time when it would be easier for them to form the habit of unselfishness than it ever will be again (unless they come to be mothers or maiden aunts themselves some day) there loving but unwise mothers persistently push the young folks towards selfishness by their own eager willingness to be unselfish.

Don't forget that it is possible to be selfishly unselfish and don't be too quick to criticize others for a selfishness for which they may be much less to blame than you realize.

Questions and Answers.
Question—Do you think a mother can love one child more than another? We have been having an argument on that subject.
Reply—I don't see why not. Many mothers will indignantly deny that there is any difference in their love for their various children and doubtless if we were to lose one of them by death it would be almost impossible for a mother to think she could give up. Nevertheless I think the elements of friendship and congeniality enter into mother love as well as into other kinds of love and a mother may feel them all with the wonderful love of a mother and if there are some who are particularly congenial to her she adds in their case the love of friendship.

Elizabeth Stuart, the Winter Queen of Bohemia, had, I think, thirteen children and ought to know something about the subject. She used to say that she did not love any of her children equally but "love cometh as it listeth. No one can love a dozen children equally."

Animal Jingles

FOR LITTLE FOLK

ALICE CLAY, GALT

MOTHER MCGREW AND HER FAMILY.

Once Mother McGrew said, "I know a good chance

For all of you children to learn to dance.

A good dancing school is about to begin,

And I really believe that I'll let you start in."

The children all shouted, "Oh, won't that be fun!"

They'd long wished to know just how dancing was done.

And so when the dancing school opened next day,

The children were there in their finest array.

The dancing instructor said, "Everyone knows

The first thing to learn is to turn out your toes;

The next thing you do is to count, 'One, two, three,'

Then start with your right foot and imitate me."

The dancing instructor was quite old and gray.

(That he was a Crab I neglected to say.)

And the dancing school floor was as slippery as glass,

Which was often the cause of disaster, alas!

The children all giggled and stood in a line;

They turned out their toes and the Crab said, "That's fine."

Said he, "I believe in a very short while

I'll have you all dancing with finish and style."

The Elephant said, "That is easy," said he,

Just stand on your right foot and count, 'One, two, three.'"

On the very worst corner of that crusty old Crab.

It hurt him so bad that he fainted from pain,

And for hours all attempts to revive him were vain.

When he finally came to, though he looked very white,

He said, "There will be no more dancing tonight."

Then the Elephant went with poor Mother McGrew,

Who said, "Well, that finishes dancing for you!"

And if you ask me I don't think there's a chance

That the Elephant ever will learn how to dance.

Some Date Recipes

In many a household dates are served as fruit, but are seldom used in making cakes, desserts and other dishes. Here are a few recipes:

Date Pudding—One cup dates, stoned and cut in half; one cup chopped nut meats; one cup of sugar; one and a half cups of flour. Beat two eggs, add slowly one-quarter cup milk in which a teaspoon of soda has been dissolved. Thoroughly mix. Bake in moderate oven. Serve with pudding sauce or whipped cream.

Date Waffles—The yolks of two eggs beaten light; add teaspoon salt, tablespoon of sugar, tablespoon melted butter, one-half pint of milk, one and a half cups flour, cupful of chopped dates, heaping tablespoon baking powder. Fold in whites of eggs. Serve with maple syrup.

Tea Cakes—One-half cup butter, creamed, one cup sugar, three well beaten eggs, one-half cup cold water, one and a quarter cup of flour, one cup chopped dates, level teaspoon of baking powder. Pat out and cut in fancy shapes.

Date Waffles—One-half pound of chopped dates, one-half cup of hot

COCOANUT OIL FINE FOR WASHING HAIR

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, the less soap you use the better.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain, mellowed coconut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless) is much better than soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair. Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mellowed coconut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months. Advertisement.

The mock duck was round steak, spread with dressing, rolled and baked in a covered pan, with a little stock.

WORTH KNOWING.

Baked Corn Mush and Apple Pudding—Take half a dozen small apples, pare, cut in half quarters, cook in syrup until rich. Make a quart of corn mush. Put layer of mush into baking pan, add layer of apples and little pieces of butter. Repeat until pan is filled. Bake in slow oven half an hour and serve with sugar and cream.

YE OLD TIME

ORANGE LAYER CAKE
Cream one-third cup of butter with a cup of sugar until very light. Beat in three eggs singly, making mixture quite smooth each time. Sift a cup of flour with half a cup of corn starch, two and a half teaspoons of baking powder and a little salt. Add this gradually to first mixture alternately with two-thirds of a cup of water, beating thoroughly until batter is light and smooth. Bake in two deep layer pans about twenty-five minutes. When ready to serve cover each layer with thinly sliced oranges well sugared and dusted with grated coconut if liked. "Or" with juice will soak into the cake and ruin its delicacy if it be put together long before serving time; but it is delicious when fresh.

DIVERSE FOOTGEAR FOR SPRING WEAR

High Laced Boot of Winter Will be Stored Away for Low Laced Oxfords of Various Styles.

(By Margaret Mason.)

Stunning Sara's short skirt shows
Stockings sheer and sleezy
Also slippers smart of suede
Course they do, they're squeazy.

New York, March 26.—It boots you naught if you be not well shod. The Spring for the shoddy shod will not only need a shiner, but be one. What are the short fall skirts good for anyway if not to show toesies smartly suppers and sheerly soaked. Never has the running gear been in such bewilderingly brilliant condition as offered in the diverse foot gear for 1915. Having been given an inch the shoe designers have taken all feet by storm with their many fascinating creations. The last fashion have become the first consideration of milady's spring wardrobe. Because of the great popularity of the high laced boot this winter the low laced shoe of spring is being received with welcoming feet. Its most popular rejuvenated form it comes with a black patent kid vamp and upper of buckskin in all shades of grey, tan, and brown. White uppers of buckskin with black patent kid vamps are also extremely smart especially with the many all black and white costumes of stripes, polka dots and checks. On all the new spring models the English last in combination with the high Louis XV heel is noticeable. In spite of the Oxford's return the pump still lingers in the good graces and on the graceful feet of the man of fashion and it, also, like the Oxford is most popular in the combination of two colors, the black patent kid or bronze vamp and the buckskin or black patent kid. Oxfords in entire buckskin, tan, can, bronze or white are also very good and fine Russian leather shoes with high and low in the delicate shades of champagne, pearl grey and cream are to be much worn. One tone schemes or in combination with the black or darker shaded leathers.

All black patent kid slippers with two or three narrow straps over the instep are offered for wear with light tinted and white silk hosiery and the all bronze slipper with white and black stripes.

It is amazing with that tenacity the high shoe clings like ivy to the well rounded limb. It seems loath to give the low shoe a chance. They certainly come high and actively and monetarily, the most swaggers of them, for they are made of the finest, softest Russian leather in either white or champagne colors offset with tiny tips of black and a border of the same up each side of the lacing and around the top. You are bound to take striking last fashions.

For evening and dance wear the plain satin slipper either strapped or in simple pump form has the stamp of modish approval. It comes in all colors of satin and is equally smart to match your slipper to gown or to wear a contrasting shade. Perhaps the newest and most unique of the evening slippers is a model with its uppers of light leather and its vamp of a contrasting shade with braid the same color as the vamp. Evening slippers of broad and metallic shades are decidedly passe but the ones of bronze still toe the Fashion line.

Sport shoes of white buckskin with soles equally snowy of white felt or white rubber are extremely effective this year with trimmings and handings of colored leather. Usually these colored trimmings are of moccasins colored or green leather but among the high sport shoes the one of white buckskin with a head very low and flat of mahogany calf, a tip and stripe across the vamp of the same leather and facings up each side of the toe lacing and a stripe up the back of the mahogany is the very sportiest.

Assuredly there is no excuse this year for putting your feet down unless you can put the best foot forward. To the tasteful woman with good understanding that means getting there with both feet.

AN AUTOGRAPH COPY OF GOETHE'S COMEDY FOUND.

Berlin, March 26.—An autograph copy of Goethe's comedy, "The Acquaintances," written in his youth, has been found among the effects of an aged woman who recently died in Dresden. The manuscript was in a packet that had not been opened for forty years. It had long been known that there were in existence two copies of this early comedy, which was written in 1769, but Goethe the researcher had hunted vainly for it. The owner left a will giving the manuscript to the Goethe Archive in Weimar.

The will placed the value of the manuscript at 20,000 marks ($5,000), and the city has required the payment of inheritance taxes thereon at that valuation.

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am seventeen years old, but all my life I have been more or less away from home, and now that I am working I am not at home at all, as you. I think you are wise not to become engaged at seventeen.

(2) No.
(3) Do not speak to men to whom you have not been introduced. It is not customary and the men might misunderstand you.
(4) True love can exist only where there is congeniality and sympathy. It is the kind of love that remains staunch during times of adversity and of good fortune. Love always has an ardent friendship is remarkable for firmness and constancy. Both love and friendship are gratified by seeking the good of the object. Love is blind to the faults of the object. It is fond, it is faithful, it idolizes. It is fond of the friendship sees faults and strives to correct them; it aims to make the object more worthy of esteem. Love subsists between members of the same family. Friendship excludes the idea of natural relationship. Love is to be found in children; friendship is confined to maturer years.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Will party dresses be worn long this spring and summer?
(2) I was at a dance engaged with a certain young man. That dance proved to be a ladies' choice. I knew his lady friend wasn't there to ask him and so I asked him. Was there anything improper about that? I asked my married sister about it first and she said she thought it would be all right. Since then I have seen a great deal of him and gone places with him. Ought I keep him as a friend?
(3) Is it right for a girl to speak to a young man if they are thrown together in a business way, that is, if they are both working and have been customers to each other only in a business way? I have been speaking to several young men whom I have traded with and whom I see when I go to the store. Is this right or not?
(4) Can you tell me what true love is? What is the difference between love and friendship?

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

When Nell ran away from the house on the day of their first quarrel, she only thought of getting away by herself to reflect and to quiet the tumult of her angry thoughts before she had a chance to utter them. She lay long on the ground under the tree, her fingers clutching the fresh grass of the pasture. Gradually a hazy anger subsided and she tried to follow the incident through. What had she seen what had she heard? The dreadful trouble. Had it been wise to tell her husband what she had meditated? The meditations of a woman had said about his being seen so much with Miss Rudolph? Yes, she felt that he should know that people were talking about their being so much together and she had thought that a good way to let him know, but perhaps she was wrong. This was to have been their afternoon together, and here she was, laid down among the grass blades, alone. She wondered what he was doing. "I'll go and see," she decided, rising and smoothing out her dress. As she came in sight of the gate she saw Dick and Miss Rudolph leaving the house together. What could it mean? A fierce anger devastated her soul again. She entered the house and rushed up to the dainty white guest chamber. He would not look for her there.

"Look for me," she reflected bitterly. "He will not miss me."

The gate clicked and she looked back. Dick had come back and was looking for her evidently, for she heard him opening and closing doors and then he took the direction to the pasture that she had taken that afternoon.

Nell was utterly spent with the surge of emotions and felt that she must get some rest. "First I'll get his supper on the table; then I'll come up here and lie down. He'll know in the house and can find me if he wants to."

She set cold meat, salad, a cake and some fruit on the table, then climbed to the guest chamber and lay down on the bed. The quiet and refreshing calmness of the room sent her off to sleep.

Dusk had fallen when Dick's entrance waked her. He wandered over the house. She lay quietly listening. Everything was still. Evidently he was eating his supper.

He did not think she was in the house; she had brought her hat upstairs. Then she heard him go out on the porch, and the aroma of his cigar floated up to the window. She wanted to go down to him, but seemed unable to move. A pale sickle of a moon and the evening star hung in all the anguish and distress of the world. Their beauty calmed her and she wiped her eyes and tucked her wet handkerchief under her pillow.

Dick had come in the house again; he was coming up the stairs. Her heart began to suffocate. He rapped softly on the door, turned the knob and entered. "You here, Nell? I have looked everywhere for you. Where have you been? How could you stay away all our one afternoon?"

He had come to the bed and was stroking her hair. Nell remained still. "Are you very angry at me for my night's speech? I am sorry, dear," he continued. She put out her hand and he bent over to kiss her. Her arm slid around his neck and he dropped to his knees by the bed.

After he had held her close in a loving silence he whispered, "Miss Rudolph is so unimportant it is a shame to lose our afternoon on her account."

"We've got the evening, left, dear," she murmured.

It will take over a number of Spanish owned vessels, and use them to convey cargoes of wheat and oats from the United States to Spanish ports, principally Barcelona. Rates of freight by ship to Spanish ports have increased in consequence with those of neighboring countries. The increase has in fact been rather more pronounced than to some French ports. For example, it is nearly ten per cent. United States grain from the United States to Marseilles than to Barcelona, because ship owners give a preference to cargoes destined to Marseilles, where there are fairly certain of being able to unload without delay.

Need Attention in February and March or Face May Stay Covered.

Now is the time to take special care of the complexion if you wish it to look well the rest of the year. The February and March winds have a strong tendency to bring out freckles that may stay all summer unless removed. Now is the time to use ointment—double strength.

This prescription for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful that it is sold by Badger Drug Co. under guarantee to refund the money if it fails. Get an ounce of ointment—double strength, and even a few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the smaller freckles even vanishing entirely.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—Perhaps It Isn't as Bad as Van-der-Wurst Thinks.

BY F. LEIPZIGER

WOMEN OF RUSSIA

Petrograd, March 26.—As the war continues the women on the border suffer the horrors of war and the mothers and orphans left at home are the ones who suffer most. In America are many mothers and daughters, who were left penniless by the war of the Rebellion, but their sufferings are as nothing to the women and children left as widows and orphans of the soldiers who have fought and bled for their country in Europe.

Many a mother and daughter have reason to be thankful to Dr. Pierce for relief from suffering and the cure of those weaknesses of their sex, because of his "Favorite Prescription." This tonic, which is strictly a temperance medicine, has cured thousands of those weaknesses, headaches, nervousness, manifestations of disease in women. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription speedsily causes all womanly troubles to disappear—compels the organs to properly perform their natural functions, corrects displacements, overcomes irregularities, removes pain and misery at certain times and brings back health and strength to nervous, irritable and exhausted women.

It is a wonderful prescription prepared only from nature's roots and herbs with no alcohol to falsely stimulate and no narcotics to wreck the nerves. It banishes pain, headache, backache, low spirits, hot flashes, dragging-down sensation, worry and sleeplessness surely and without loss of time.

What Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has done for thousands it will do for you. It's not a secret remedy for its ingredients are printed on wrapper. Get it this very day at any medicine dealers in either liquid or tablet form.

Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy. Advertisement.

ITCHING NEARLY DROVE A WHOLE FAMILY CRAZY

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 24, 1914.—"My husband had a rash all over his body, and soon the WHOLE FAMILY was in the same condition. It looked ugly and raised up on the arms and body in big lumps. This trouble burned and itched so that it would nearly drive one crazy. It was always worse at night, so we could not sleep. We all had this trouble for about two or three years, and during that time tried many remedies and prescriptions with no results. We tried Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap and it RELIEVED AT ONCE, and before the third jar of ointment had been used, we were all completely cured. It has been four months since we were cured, and there are no traces of the trouble." (Signed) Mrs. S. A. Clarkson, 1520 Lawn Ave.

Every druggist sells Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, and physicians have prescribed them for 20 years in the treatment of skin troubles.

An Easy Way to Increase Weight

Good Advice For Thin Folks.

The trouble with most thin folks who wish to gain weight is that they insist on drugging their stomach or stuffing it with greasy foods, rubbing on useless flesh creams, or following some foolish physical culture stunt while the real cause of thinness goes untouched. You cannot get fat until your digestive tract assimilates the food you eat.

Thanks to a remarkable new scientific discovery, it is now possible to combine into simple form the very elements needed by the digestive organs to help them convert food into rich, fat-laden blood. This master-stroke of modern chemistry is called Sargol and has been termed the greatest of flesh-builders. Sargol aims through its re-generative, re-constructive powers to coax the stomach and intestines to literally soak up the fattening elements of your food and pass them into the blood, where they are carried to every starved, broken-down cell and tissue of your body. You can readily picture the result when this amazing transformation has taken place and you notice how your cheeks fill out, hollows about your neck, shoulders and bust disappear, and you take on from 10 to 20 pounds of solid, healthy flesh. Sargol is absolutely harmless, inexpensive, efficient. All leading druggists of Janesville and vicinity have it and will refund your money if you are not satisfied, as per the guarantee found in every package.

Caution!—While Sargol has given excellent results in overcoming various dyspepsia and general stomach troubles it should not be taken by those who do not wish to gain ten pounds or more. Advertisement

He got up and began pacing the floor. She leaned back in her chair, deliberately giving him time to straighten out his thoughts for him.

"Will You Marry Me Tomorrow?" self. Wiser than she knew herself to be, she held back the warm, loving words of encouragement, of gratitude, of belief.

But she was not prepared for the impetuous appeal that followed. He threw himself down beside her and grasped her hands in his. His face seemed suddenly old and haggard, his eyes burned like coals of fire. Then, for the first time, she had an inkling of the great struggle that had been going on inside of him for weeks and weeks.

"Listen, Lydia," he began, nervous. "Will you marry me tomorrow? Are you willing to take the chance that I'll be able to support you, to earn enough—"

"Why, Freddy!" she cried, half starting up from the couch. She was dumfounded.

"Will you? Will you? I mean it," he went on, almost arrogantly.

He was very much in earnest, but alas, the fire, the passion of the impetuous lover was missing. She shrank back into the corner of the couch, staring at him with puzzled eyes. Comprehension was slow in arriving. As he hurried on with his plea, she began to see clearly; her sound, level brain grasped the insignificance of this sudden decision on his part.

"There's no use waiting, dear. I'll never be more capable of earning a living than I am right now. I can go into the office with Brooks any day and I—I think I can make good. God knows I can try hard enough. Brooks says he's got a place there for me in the bond department. It won't be much at first, but I can work into a pretty good—what's the matter? Don't you think I can do it? Have you no faith in me? Are you afraid to take a chance?"

She had smiled sadly. It seemed to him reprovingly. His cheek flushed. "What has put all this into your head, Freddy, dear?" she asked shrewdly.

His eyes wavered. "I can't go on living as I have been for the past few months. I've just got to end it, Lydia. You don't understand, you can't, and there isn't any use in trying to explain the—"

"I think I do understand, dear," she said, quietly, laying her hand on his. "I understand so completely that there isn't any use in your trying to explain. But don't you think you are a bit cowardly?"

"Cowardly?" he gasped, and then the blood rushed to his face.

to marry you while you are still afraid?"

"Before God, I love no one else but you," he cried, earnestly. "I know what it is you are thinking and I—I don't blame you. But I want you now—good God, you don't know how much I need you now. I want to begin a new life with you. I want to feel that you are with me—just you—strong and brave and enduring. I am afraid. I need you."

"If you insist, I will marry you tomorrow, but you cannot—you will not ask it of me, will you?"

"But you know I love you," he cried. "There isn't any doubt in your mind, Lydia. There is no one else, I tell you."

"I think I am just beginning to understand men," she remarked enigmatically.

He looked up sharply. "And to wonder why they call women the weaker sex, eh?"

"Yes," she said so seriously that the very smile died on his lips. "I don't believe there are many women who would ask a man to be sorry for them. That's really what all this amounts to, isn't it, Freddy?"

"By jove!" he exclaimed, wonderingly.

"You are a strong, self-willed, chivalrous man, and yet you think nothing of asking a woman to protect you against yourself. You are afraid to stand alone. Wait. Five minutes—yes, one minute before you asked it of me, Freddy dear, you were floundering in the darkness, uncertain which way to turn. You were afraid of the things you could not see. You looked for some place in which to hide. The flash of light revealed a haven of refuge. So you asked me—to marry you tomorrow." All through this indictment she had held his hand clasped tightly in both of hers. He was looking at her with a frank acknowledgment growing in his eyes.

"Are you ashamed of me, Lydia?" he asked. It was confession.

"No," she said, meeting his gaze steadily. "I am a little disappointed, that's all. It is you who are ashamed."

"I am," said he, simply. "It wasn't fair."

"Love will endure. I am content to wait," she said, with a wistful smile.

"You will be my wife no matter what happens? You won't let this make any difference?"

"Angry? Why should I be angry with you, Lydia? For shaking some sense into me? For seeing through me with that wonderful, far-sighted brain of yours? Why, I could go down on my knees to you. I could—"

He clasped her in his arms and held her close. "You dear, dear Lydia!"

Neither spoke for many minutes. It was she who broke the silence.

"You must promise me one thing, Freddy. For my sake, avoid a quarrel with your father. I could not bear that. You will promise, dear? You must."

His jaw was set. "I don't intend to quarrel with him, but if I am to remain in his house there has got to be—"

"Promise me you will wait. He is going away in a couple of weeks. When he returns—later on—next fall—"

"Oh, if it really distresses you, Lydia, I'll—"

"It does distress me. I want your promise."

"I'll do my part," he said, resignedly. "And next fall will see us married, so—"

The telephone bell in the hall was ringing. Freddy released Lydia's hand and sat up rather stiffly, as one who suddenly suspects that he is being spied upon. The significance of the movement did not escape Lydia. She laughed mirthlessly.

"I will see who it is," she said, and arose. Two red spots appeared in his cheeks. Then it was that she realized he had been waiting all along for the bell to ring; he had been expecting a summons.

"If it's for me, please say—er—say I'll—"

"Will you stay here for luncheon, Freddy? And this afternoon we will go to—"

"Oh, is there a concert or a recital—" "Yes, I'll stay if you'll let me," he said, wistfully. "We'll find something to do."

She went to the telephone. He heard the polite greetings, the polite assurances that she had not taken cold, two or three laughing rejoinders to what must have been amusing comments on the storm and its effect on timid creatures, and then:

"Yes, Mrs. Brood, I will call him to the phone."

CHAPTER XIII.

Two Women.

Frederic had the feeling that he slunk to the telephone. The girl handed the receiver to him, and he met her confident, untroubled gaze for a second. Instead of returning to the sitting-room where she could have heard everything that he said, she went into her own room down the hall and closed the door. He was not conscious of any intention to temporize, but it was significant that he did not speak until the door closed behind her. Afterwards he realized and was ashamed.

Almost the first words that Yvonne uttered were of a nature to puzzle and irritate him, although they bore directly upon his own previously formed resolution. Her voice, husky and low, seemed strangely plaintive and lifeless to him.

"Have you and Lydia made any plans for the afternoon?" she inquired. He made haste to declare their intention to attend a concert. "I am glad you are going to do that," she went on. "You will stay for luncheon with Lydia?"

"Yes. She's trying to pick up that thing of Feverelli's—the one we heard last night." There was silence at the other end of the wire. "Are you there?"

"Yes."

"I will be home for dinner, of course. You—you don't need me for anything, do you?"

"No," she said. Then, with a low laugh: "You may be excused for the day, my son. Your father and I have been discussing the trip abroad."

"I thought you—you were opposed to going."

"I've changed my mind. As a matter of fact, I've changed my heart."

"You speak in riddles."

She was silent for a long time. "Frederic, I want you to do something for me. Will you try to convince Lydia that I meant no offense last night when I—"

"She understands all that perfectly, Yvonne."

"No, she doesn't. A woman wouldn't understand."

"In what way?"

There was a pause. "No woman likes to be regarded as a fool," she said at last, apparently after careful reflection. "Oh, yes; there is something else. We are dining out this evening."

"You and I?" he asked after a moment.

"Certainly not. Your father and I. I was about to suggest that you dine with Lydia—or better still, ask her over here to share your dinner with you."

He was scowling. "Where are you going?"

"Going? Oh, dining. I see. Well," slowly, deliberately, "we thought it would be great fun to dine alone at Delmonico's and see a play afterward."

"What play are you going to see?" he cut in. She mentioned a Belasco production. "Well, I hope you enjoy it, Yvonne. By the way, how is the governor today? In a good humor?"

There was no response. He waited for a moment, and then called out: "Are you there?"

"Good-by," came back over the wire. He started as if she had given him a slap in the face. Her voice was cold and forbidding.

When Lydia rejoined him in the sitting-room he was standing at the window, staring across the courtyard far below.

Are you going? she asked, steadily. He turned toward her, conscious of the telltale scowl that was passing from his brow. It did not occur to him to resent her abrupt, uncompromising question. As a matter of fact, it seemed quite natural that she should put the question in just that way, flatly, incisively. He considered himself, in a way, to be on trial.

"No, I'm not," he replied. "You did not expect me to forget, did you?" He was uncomfortable under her honest, inquiring gaze. A sudden anger against himself took possession of him. He despised himself for the feeling of loneliness and homesickness that suddenly came over him.

WHAT DYSPYPTICS SHOULD EAT

A PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE

"Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble are, nine times out of ten, due to acidity; therefore stomach sufferers should, whenever possible, avoid eating food that is acid in its nature, or which by chemical action in the stomach develops acidity. Unfortunately, such a rule eliminates most foods which are pleasant to the taste as well as those which are essential to health and nerve building proper. This is the reason why dyspeptics and stomach sufferers are usually so thin, and why they are obliged to exclude from their diet all starchy, sweet or fatty food, and are trying to keep up a miserable existence on gluten products. I would suggest that you should try a meal of any food or foods which you may like, in moderate amount, taking immediately afterwards a teaspoonful of saturated magnesia in a little hot or cold water. This will neutralize any acid which may be present, or which may be formed, and instead of the usual feeling of uneasiness and fullness, you will find that your food agrees with you perfectly. Saturated magnesia is doubtless the best food corrective and antacid known. It has no direct action on the stomach; but by neutralizing the acidity of the food contents, and thus removing the source of the acid irritation which inflames the delicate stomach lining, it does more than could possibly be done by any drug or medicine. As a physician, I believe in the use of medicine when necessary, but I must admit that I cannot see the sense of dosing an inflamed and irritated stomach with drugs, instead of getting rid of the acid—the cause of all the trouble. Get a little saturated magnesia from your druggist, eat what you want at your next meal, take some of the saturated magnesia as directed above, and see if I'm not right."

Dinner Stories

A street corner orator was addressing an audience which consisted mainly of small boys.

His subject was kindness to animals, and he urged his listeners to treat our dumb friends with humanity. Just as he reached the end of his harangue a lady walked past leading two little dogs on a double leash—one white and the other black.

Pimpily? Well, Don't Be!

People Notice It. Drive Them Off With Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, the bowels and the liver with Olive Tablets. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are the successful substitute for calomel—there's never any sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with "a dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound, mixed with Olive Oil, you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result.

Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, Ohio.

The speaker seized his opportunity.

"Now, suppose those two dear little animals began fighting," he said loudly, "after hearing what I have said, what is the first thing you would do?"

A paralyzed silence fell on the crowd. A very small boy in the front row eyed the two dogs critically.

"Well, guv'nor," he said at last, "I find I'd bet a dime on the black one!"

An amusing anecdote is told of Lord Cardigan, who fought in the Crimean war, when a coalition of England, France, Turkey and Sardinia fought Russia. Cardigan was a choleric old general, whose busts of temper were a constant dread of subordinates.

It once happened that provisions for the troops ran very short. One morning, when the general appeared for breakfast, the cook came before him, and said in a troubled tone:

"Pardon me, your lordship, I have set the table in the dining tent, as usual, but there isn't any bread!"

"No bread?" roared the general. "Why didn't you buy some?"

"There isn't any to be had; the stores are all run out," replied the cook.

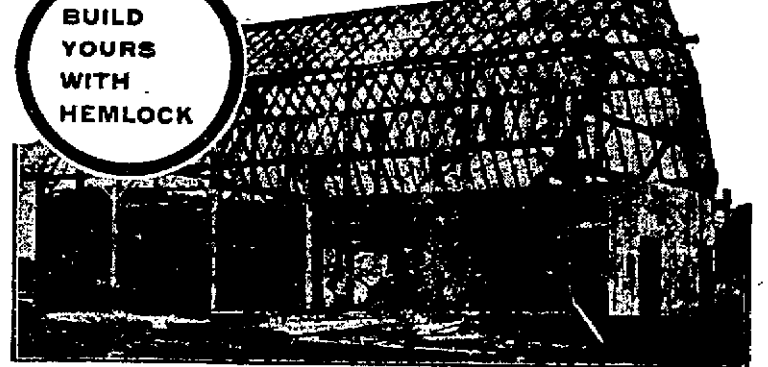

"Well, don't stand there like a blooming idiot! Why, under the sun, don't you get me some toast?"

Carlyle on Warfare.

Are not all true men that live, or that ever lived, soldiers of the same army, enlisted under heaven's captaincy, to do battle against the same enemy, the empire of darkness and wrong? Why should we mislead one another, fight not against the enemy, but against ourselves, from mere difference of uniform? All uniforms shall be good, so they hold in them true, valiant men—Carlyle.

One important difference between Devoe Lead-and-Zinc Paint and ordinary hand mixed or ready mixed paints is a difference you will first notice in your pocketbook.

Where a given job will require, say, 15 gallons of ordinary paint, the work can often be well done with 10 gallons of Devoe; that's about the proportion usually.

The best of it is, fewer gallons make a better job of it; lasts longer, costs less first and last. Whatever painting you pay for have it Devoe; be sure to go on want our book about painting?

EVEN CROSS, SICK CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

IF FEVERISH, BILIOUS, CONSTIPATED, GIVE FRUIT LAXATIVE AT ONCE.

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the sour waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow. Get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. EARLY LIFE IN WISCONSIN

LIFE BEFORE THE ICE AGE.

(Prepared for the Gazette by the Geology department at the University of Wisconsin.)

The ice age or Pleistocene period as it is called is full of interest and is, perhaps, better known to the layman than any of the other great divisions in the earth's history. No longer is the knowledge of the things that happened then confined to the savants, but every school boy has some mental picture of the great sheets of ice and the changes they wrought. Here we may see where the slowly moving ice has very gradually left a beautiful polished surface marked by long scratches and grooves. Under are irregular hills made of heaps of rock and soil scooped up by the ice. Over there is a beautiful lake formed by the stopping of an old river channel with deep deposits of sand and gravel. Still evidence is everywhere at hand, but less well known is the story of the life of those times; a story that to many is the most interesting of all.

For many years the land in the north has been slowly rising till at an early time in the ice age there was a complete land connection between North America and Asia by way of Alaska. A great host of quadrupeds that had been living in Europe and Asia were quick to take advantage of this new route and sailed forth into our continent where food was plentiful. It was then that Wisconsin first became the "Badger State" for Mr. Badger and his family were among the early arrivals. But the badgers were among the more conspicuous travelers as far as size was concerned; there were beavers that were much larger than those of today. Indeed, they rivaled in size the largest of the world. At a certain time, too, came a great troupe of the deer family, the caribou, the moose and others. If to this collection one adds the picture of the camels, the hippos, the great sabre-toothed cats and many other strange creatures that were already living further south on the continent, he has a wonderful picture of the life of those times. (The mastodons which once roamed Wisconsin jungles will be described in this column tomorrow.—Editor.)

Annual Plants For Newly Graded Grounds

A few well-chosen annual plants placed on newly graded grounds will do much to take the place of trees and shrubs until the latter may have time to grow, according to the U. S. department of agriculture's specialist. It is often a question in a new community where slow-growing vegetation has not had an opportunity as to what may be done to make grounds seem less bare. A lawn can be made in a few weeks and its appearance may be greatly increased by the addition of a few well-chosen annuals.

The specialist suggests as particularly suited for this purpose the following: corn, which may be grown in most parts of the United States:

Tall foliage plants—Castor bean, caladium, canna.

Tall flowering plants—Cosmos, scarlet sage, sunflowers.

Border plants—Alternanthera, alyssum, ageratum, coleus.

Small annual flowering plants—Ceranium, California aster (Eichscholtzia), Zinnia, marigold, aster, petunia, cockscomb, larkspur, nasturtium.

Climbing annuals—Cobaea scandens, moonflower, Japanese morning glory.

Varieties in color and contrast, in height and general effect should be studied in placing the plants.

The general appearance of plants on the home grounds or in the garden is more or less dependent upon the condition of nearby lawns.

Lawns are the foundation of all decoration. A good, well-kept lawn contributes more to the beauty of grounds than any other single factor. For this reason special attention should be given to the grading, cultivation and enriching of the area to be devoted to the lawn.

The variety of soils which will be encountered and the special treatment which they need render it possible to make only the broadest generalizations here. For localities north of St. Louis, Mo., and Richmond, Va., lawns can be formed chiefly of bluegrass, redtop, and white clover. South of this point Bermuda grass and St. Augustine grass will have to be used upon chiefly, although it is said in some places alfalfa has been employed with good results.

The U. S. department of Agriculture has a bulletin on "Lawn Soils and Lawns" (No. 494), and a bulletin on "Beautifying The Home Grounds" (No. 135), which will be sent to applicants as long as the supply lasts.

Horrid Pimples Kill Dimples

But Stuart's Calcium Wafers Will Remove the Unightly Blemishes in So Short a Time as to Seem Almost Impossible of Belief.

The crowning beauty of a woman is her skin. She may have only ordinary features or even a coarse, heavy contour of face, but if she is the possessor of a fine, colorful skin, showing vigorous health and a pure blood, she will grow attractive to every eye.

The Girl: "Betty has a pretty face and cute dimples, but the pimples are horrid."

The Man: "Stuart's Calcium Wafers would remove them in a jiffy."

The great trouble with the majority of women is that they try to remove pimples by outside treatment, such as greases, massage, cosmetics, electricity, etc. These methods will not cure nor even temporarily remove pimples and facial disorders. The difficulty is generally impure blood. The blood is a stream of waste matter filled with poisons. Its color is black or blue or brownish cast, instead of ruby red, as it should be.

The best color always comes in youth, of course, but all the cosmetics in the world will not bring back the color if your blood is diseased or filled with impurities which it cannot remove or throw off.

Go to your druggist, however he may be, and he will give you a box of Stuart's Calcium Wafers, price 50c.

ISSUE WAR NEWSPAPERS FOR THE EDUCATING OF CONQUERED PEOPLE.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Berlin, March 26.—The war is responsible for the appearance, on every battle front and in almost every fortress, of a series of newspapers which, for obvious reasons, set quite a new style in journalism.

In parts of Northern France where German troops are trying to get out, German papers with French type cases, issues are already coming to the letter "y" has to be used for the "w" and the "q" for the "h" is frequently missing. The "h" is frequently missing. At points where troops are stationed.

It neutralizes excessive acid, stomach poison; absorbs that misery-making gas and stops fermentation which scours your entire meal and causes Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Bloating, Constipation, Griping, etc. Your real and only trouble is that which ed for long periods it has been possible to make frequent use of the tanks so many artists, writers and skilled tradesmen and printers that the resultant output is often astonishingly good.

All over Europe, especially in districts that have been conquered there are being issued papers in the native language for the purpose of educating the civil population to the conquerer's viewpoint and of combating the claims and statements of native papers. Many are printed in two languages. Business houses, banks, are factories are publishing papers full of home news which they send to employees at the front.

THE BOY FARMER

Or a Member of the Corn Club
By ASA PATRICK

Copyright, 1915, by American Press Association.

"Well, I'll get the bait and be long about 1 o'clock after you. Say, Sam, you shore are raisin' a powerful lot o' truck on this place. I declare, I don't see how you do it. Of course I know now that it's a good deal in the way you work the land, but I didn't think anybody could raise crops like this. And you never let up—fast as you get one crop off you've got another coming on."

"Yes," said the boy farmer. "I'm doing pretty well. Everything's been favorable, though, and we've had plenty of rain. As for growing more than one crop, you've got to do that if you want to make any money. Besides, land needs something on it all the time to keep down the weeds and keep humus in the ground. When I get my corn and cotton gathered I want to hire you again to plow this land and sow it with some kind of a cover crop for the winter."

"All right," agreed Bill. "I'll do it. And since you mentioned it I guess I'll sow my field in something—wheat or rye. I could use it for pasture, too, couldn't I?"

"Certainly," replied Sam. "It would not hurt to pasture it even if you were going to let it stand. But speaking of land producing stuff, why, man, this place hasn't done half what it can be made to do. Here's something I clipped from a farm paper. It'll give you an idea what land produces when it's handled right." Sam took from his pocket a little slip of paper and read:

"There are few who know the possibilities of the soil when well manured and watered. One acre has produced

The Two Put Off Down the Creek to Fish For Perch.

216 bushels of corn, and three bales of cotton have rewarded another man. On Long Island 400 bushels of Irish potatoes is not an excessively large crop, and at Greeley, Colo., 400 bushels is not an uncommon yield. In the Sacramento valley, California, Mr. Cheek has for the past thirty years made a good living and saved an average of $400 per year from one acre. On the island of Jersey rents are as high as $200 and $300 per acre, and near the city of Paris they are higher still. Near San Diego, Cal., there is a colony of "littlelanders" who believe that one acre is enough, and many of them are making good with their small farms. With good soils, plenty of manure and all the water needed the possibilities of the soil are enormous, and one crop follows another in rapid succession."

"What do you think of $200 and $300 an acre for rent?" Sam asked when he had finished reading. "They've got to raise something on that land, haven't they?"

"I should say they have!" exclaimed Bill.

That afternoon at 1 o'clock Bill Googe came by for Sam, and the two put off down the creek to fish for the perch and cat that were to be found in the blue pools of the little stream. Bill had intended to take his shotgun along, but found that he was out of powder and so had to leave off that part of the sport.

They hadn't gone far when an old quail with her brood of young ones, just old enough to fly, rose out of the grass in front of them with a loud whir of wings and sailed off into a nearby thicket.

"There's got to be some good hunting here this fall and winter," Bill Googe remarked.

"You're a farmer, aren't you, Bill?" Sam asked.

"Of course, a kind of one. But what you askin' that for?" Bill inquired, surprised at the question.

"Well, a farmer ought not to kill a farmer's friends, ought he?"

"Sure, he oughtn't," George replied.

"Well, you just take it from me that those quails and nearly all the other birds that live around here are good friends of ours. We ought not to kill them, and we ought not to allow others to come on our places to kill them." "Why, I didn't think a quail was any good to us except to eat," said Bill. "So far as any one knows," Sam explained, "they're the only bird that destroys the potato beetle. They eat all turn every time they gobble one. More than that, every single quail eats thousands upon thousands of boll weevils. Some people used to argue that a quail didn't eat anything except grain. But we know better now. They eat insects of all kinds, as well as weed seed."

"If that's so they ought not to be killed," said Bill.

"Of course not," said Sam. "We don't have any idea how much good they do us. It ought to be against the law to kill a quail at any time. As it is, they say insects destroy one-tenth of all we produce. If we were to kill all the birds there'd be such a plague of insects that they'd kill everything—all the trees and vegetation of all kinds."

Farther on Bill saw a woodpecker hammering lustily on a dead tree. He stopped and pointed with his finger. "Bet I could knock 'im off with a rifle from here," he said.

"Don't ever do it," cautioned Sam. "He's another friend."

"What?" exclaimed Bill. "A woodpecker kills trees."

"No, he doesn't," said Sam. "He saves trees. A woodpecker never bores a hole in a tree for fun. He's after worms or making himself a home, and he makes his home in dead trees. When he bores into a green tree he's after a worm every time, and he always gets him. The hole the bird makes will grow up, but if the worm stays it'll kill the tree. One woodpecker will go over 600 trees in a day and examine them for bugs, egg deposits and worms. It doctors the tree inside and out. I saw a woodpecker go over nearly every tree in our orchard."

"Well, now, I didn't know that," said Bill. "I been knowin' woodpeckers all my life, but I never paid no attention to 'em. Guess I won't shoot no more of 'em."

"To tell the truth," Sam went on, "there are mighty few birds or animals but what do more good than harm. I believe the common old house cat kills more birds and chickens than all the varmints put together. I think it's a good deed to kill a cat whenever you find one. There are two kinds of hawks—the cooper and the sharp-shinned—that are bad to kill birds and chickens. These two hawks look alike. They are small. The females are a mottled brownish color, and the males are a dull blue. It's a good thing to kill them whenever you get a chance. The other hawks and owls don't do much harm, and they do lots of good because they live mostly on rats and mice and such things. Once in a while an owl will bother chickens, but it's only when its regular food is scarce."

"It's pretty much the same way about the fox, mink, weasel and skunk. Once in a while one of these varmints will get to be bad after chickens. But we could hardly do without them because they keep down the swarms of field mice, rabbits, grasshoppers, crickets, hornets and wasps."

"Where'd you find out these things?" asked Bill. "I know they're true when I hear you say 'em, but somehow I never did think of 'em before."

"I've learned a little by reading," Sam told him, "but mostly by keeping my eyes and ears open when I'm out in the woods and fields. Sister and I like to study plants and animals, especially plants. We're going to take a correspondence course in botany next year in the state university. Florence says she's going to be a florist, and I want to know all about plants, so I can farm."

During the long afternoon Sam and Bill fished and talked, every now and then throwing out a blue cat or a goggle eye to add to their strings that they kept fastened to the edge of the water. It was cool and shady along the creek. Birds sang and squirrels chattered in the branches overhead. The two farmers enjoyed the quiet coolness after the hot days in the field.

Late in the afternoon they wound up their lines and went home, each carrying a long string of fish. Sam sat on the doorstep in the gathering dusk and breathed the perfume from the honeysuckle that clambered over the yard fence. He saw the stars coming out, one by one, and the moon creeping up behind a big oak. He heard the "who-who-who" of an owl away off on the creek. Then suddenly stars, moon and owl all vanished. He smelled fried fish and heard his mother calling him to supper.

CHAPTER VII.

SAM met Mr. Burns in town one day in September. The agent's district embraced several counties, and he had been absent for some time. The two had not seen each other for several weeks.

"Hello, Sam!" accosted the agent.

"How's the corn?"

"That corn is all right, Mr. Burns," replied Sam, "and I'd like you to come out one day this week to see it gathered and measured."

"All right, I'll be out Friday and bring along the committee that's going to report on the contest area in this county. Will it take long to gather the corn?" "Yes, it's going to take quite a bit of time, for unless I'm mighty badly mistaken there's sure some corn on that patch."

"Well, you've tried farming for a year. What do you think of it as a business?"

"I think it's the finest business there is. I like it better than anything else I can think of, and I'm going to stick to it and learn it."

Mr. Burns smiled. "I see," he said, "that you don't think you know all about the business. Did you read those books that I told you about?"

"No, sir," said Sam, replying to the agent's first remark, "I really don't know much about farming. I need more experience. Most of what I know I've learned from reading. As for those books, I've not only read them, but I've studied them too. I've bought several more since then, and I'm going to keep on buying till I get all the best ones in my line. I don't believe it pays to economize on books, do you?"

"No, it doesn't," said Mr. Burns. "If you know the science of farming it is easy enough to learn the rest. But you never can farm intelligently without learning the science of it. What other books did you buy?"

"Well, I bought Bailey's 'Manual of Gardening' for mother, but I'm studying it myself. There's a whole lot to learn about gardening, and every farm ought to have a garden. Besides that, I bought Fletcher's 'Soils—How to Handle and Improve Them' and Dugger's 'Diseases of Cultivated Plants and Weeds, Insects and Insecticides.'"

"They're just the books you needed," said Mr. Burns. "If you keep on reading and studying this way it won't take you any time to finish the course in the agricultural college when you go down there."

Friday morning early Bill Googe came over with his wagon and team, and he and Sam started in to gather the contest area. The day before Sam had gone over the patch and gathered the ears selected for seed and piled them at the edge of the patch. Before 8 o'clock they had one big load gathered and were just driving out to unload it in a bin that Sam had prepared when Mr. Burns and the judging committee arrived.

The men stood around, examined the ears and watched them unload, then went back to the patch and helped to gather the next load, which required but a very little time for all of them. After that Sam brought out some melons and cantaloupes, and the men feasted in the shade of a tree while he and Bill Googe gathered the remainder of the corn.

By 11 o'clock the last of the corn had been gathered and unloaded. Mr. Burns and the committee then measured the pile of seed corn and calculated the contents of the bin.

"One hundred and thirty-nine bushels," announced Mr. Burns. "Now for the cost."

"Every item of expense and labor connected with the acre was put down. All this was added up and the result divided by 139."

"One hundred and thirty-nine bushels; cost per bushel, 11 cents," announced the agent again. "Well, Sam, you're sure going to win some of those prizes. Several of the boys are going to beat you on production, but the cost is where you come in. Your acre shows a big profit. Well, gentlemen, let's go down to the next place. You'll hear from me later, Sam."

One hundred and thirty-nine bushels, and Fagan had made twenty-five bushels to the acre just opposite. One always feels relieved when a long, hard task is finished. This was Sam's feeling as he watched the men drive off. He had done his best and his work had been fairly measured. He felt more free now to finish up the work on the farm and turn his attention to school and study.

The young farmer removed the husks from his seed corn, then went through it and made a second selection of the finest ears. From these ears he removed the defective grains at the ends and then shelled the rest into stout sacks.

In selecting seed cotton he pursued pretty much the same plan. After picking the cotton from the finest stalks and bolls he had it ginned and saved the seed. These seeds he put in a screen that let the small and useless ones pass through.

QUIT MEAT IF YOUR KIDNEYS ACT BADLY

Take tablespoonful of Salts if Back hurts or Bladder bothers.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, indigestion or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in uric acid, to loosen a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders. Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.

The Disloyalty of Demas

By
REV. WILLIAM WALLACE KETCHUM
Director of the Practical Work Course
Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—Demas hath forsaken me.—II Tim. 4:10.

These are the words of an old man, languishing in a Roman prison. They are from the Apostle Paul to his beloved Timothy.

Circumstances are not so favorable with the apostle as they were during his first imprisonment at Rome. Then he dwelt in his own hired house, received all who came unto him and preached the gospel, no man forbidding him. Now prison walls confine him and prison chains restrain him.

There he sits in his narrow cell, chained to a Roman guard, writing a letter to Timothy: "Be not ashamed," he writes, "of the testimony of our Lord, nor of me his prisoner." "Yes, Timothy, all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution." And, as the dampness of the cell causes him to shiver: "When thou comest bring the cloak I left at Troas," and the words of our text, "Demas hath forsaken me."

The significance of this statement is realized, when seen in the light of the circumstances which called it forth. Demas, a Christian, a friend of Paul, with him during his first imprisonment at Rome, had abandoned the apostle. He stood by him when everything was favorable, but when imminent peril threatened Paul because of his loyalty to Christ, the contemptible coward fled for his life. He could not stand the test, and in this, was the forerunner of many Demases of today who profess to be loyal to Christ, receiving all the good things that come from him, and who shout aloud their halalleluahs and amens, but when the testing time comes lack the grit and grace to "endure hardness as good soldiers of Jesus Christ." It is one thing to shout at a Fourth of July celebration; it is another thing to shoulder a gun and march to the front.

It is easy to shout "halalleluah." When everyone is saying "Amen." It's another thing to stand by him when they curse him again and again.

You may have wondered why many who profess loyalty to Christ sadly fail him when the testing time comes. Paul acquaints Timothy with the reason: "Demas hath forsaken me, having loved this present world." That is it: the love of the world causes disloyalty to Christ. Jesus taught this when he said: "No man can serve two masters, for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to one and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and Mammon." (Matt. 6:24). Does this mean, if we are to be loyal to Christ we must give up everything in the world? That depends upon what is meant by everything. Surely, anything that comes in between Christ and us must be given up. And if we are loyal to him we will surrender all, that he may in turn "give us richly all things to enjoy." As those who love him and are wise, we will weigh the things of time in the balance of eternity, just as the gold hunter in the river bottom washes the dirt that he may find the pure metal, so we should carefully sift the things of the world that we may find the good and true. The builder of the world that we may find the good and true. The builder who rears the skyscraper tests every bit of material that goes into the structure; how much more important it is for us not to permit anything to enter our life that will weaken any part and cause us, when the stress and strain come, to be disloyal to Christ.

John Conlon, walking on the railway, caught his foot in a "frog" where two tracks crossed. He laughed at first but when he tried to extricate his foot, he found himself held fast. He heard a locomotive coming around the curve and redoubled his efforts but without avail, and the merciless monster crushed him to death. One thing, only one, held John Conlon, but it held him as securely as if he were bound to the track by a legion of soldiers. It may be just one thing; only one, that holds us from being loyal to Christ, and this one thing, as in the case of John Conlon, may prove fatal.

How shall we give up the things of the world which are so alluring? It is not by giving up but by getting, that a wrong love is displaced. If the love of Christ is permitted to flow into our hearts in all its fullness, it will displace the love of the world. "If any man love the world, the love of the father is not in him." This is evident, for two opposite loves cannot occupy the heart at the same time. The love given the right of way will crowd the other love out.

Let Christ in and the love of the world will be displaced.

The International Sunday-School Lesson.

Motto for this Week: "It is impossible to mentally or socially enslave a Bible-reading people. The principles of the Bible are the ground work of human freedom." Horace Greeley, 1811-1872.

First Quarter, Lesson XIII. March 28, 1915. GOD'S MERCIES TO DISOBEDIENT ISRAEL (Review).

This narrative would be fascinating to the youth of the country because it takes one into the dim age before authentic history begins. It is a transcript more or less full and accurate of events transpiring some centuries before the founding of the Latinum, Alba Longa or Babylon. Gideon and Samson are the elders of Aeneas and Ascanius by some three hundred years. The story has the witching charm of a legend, it shows, as in a moving picture, the inception and evolution of a nation which is believed to have played a part in the history of the world. The succession of black woes and bright beatitudes. Apostasy from Jehovah is accompanied with his judgments. The form of oppression by the heathen. Repentance on the part of Israel is followed in each instance by deliverance by mighty heroes provided by Jehovah. The child nation was really in the Lord's school in which it had the moral discipline of contact with and observation of the evil of surrounding nations. They were taught by example of others the consequences of immoral conduct. In their own experience they found that obedience to God was invariably attended by peace and prosperity. The masses may not have gotten far enough along to see that this was not arbitrary and capricious on the part of Jehovah, but they saw the very nature of the case. The men of vision, however, did undoubtedly discern the fundamental principles of civil life. And these, in every instance, are the same. From the galaxy of that mystic order of magistrates and military leaders called the Judges, most unexpectedly a woman's face beams upon us. Her mien is noble, though a palm tree is her only canopy. She is one woman with a torch-glow in her countenance. She shines in the midst of a degenerate age. She cannot brook the humiliation of her nation. A Joan of Arc some ages before the "Little Shepherdes," she leads a campaign that would have done credit to the maid who emancipated France. The instruments of a wonder-working Providence are often found in unlikely places. The angel found another deliverer of Israel in a wine-vat which he was using as a threshing-floor for fear of the enemy. Accepting the call, Gideon showed his sincerity by beginning the reformation at home. He first kindled the wood of his father's idols. Samson is most spectacular of all these ancient. The story of his birth gives us a cross section of human life three thousand years ago. It is a picture of unfeigned domestic piety on the part of husband and wife in one Hebrew home. Upon the scene a deliverer bursts upon the scene. The person of Gideon, who twice slits his army's divine command, reducing thirty-two regiments to a paltry band of three companies with the extraordinary armament of lamps, pitchers, and horns, with which he puts one hundred and twenty regiments of the enemy to flight. The Book of questions of inspiration, it is a disputed masterpiece of literature, one of the noblest and sweetest pastoral idylls ever written. It shows the ideal of disinterested affection realized. The child Samuel was the white flower of a dark period, a nestling in the dark hour of the nation's hope centered in Samuel. The very continuity of his service gave him prestige. Having never wavered himself, he was qualified to call others to God. The saline quality of his own character, the light of his example went forth to change the corrupt and dark conditions of society. Samuel's self was a greater beacon than any fortress he could have built or army he could have marshaled. He called the nation to repentance in a general religious assembly, and as a mediator presented the people's confession to God and made intercession for them. It is a fascinating rural picture which shows us the farmer's son rounding up his father's stock, visiting the seer for advice in finding the metamorphosed into a king. In the national assembly which followed, the divine choice is confirmed by the restrictive rules of kingship are announced and agreed to, and thus the first constitutional monarchy of history is launched. But passive reception of kingship is nothing. The incumbent must prove his fitness. When a national election was impending, Saul knew why he was king. All his dormant powers were awakened. When to furnish a sign as if he was making a god of his rural life forever. By that token he called all Israel to the colors, and, adopting Napoleon's methods some centuries before the Corsican, achieved a complete and memorable victory. It was then that the magnanimity blazed like a jewel in his crown. He forgave those who had certain came down upon Saul it rises upon Jonathan. What a contrast the eclipse of the father, a falling faith—the very opposite brought the sun into the white light of an assertion. Jonathan's immortal deed of valor was based upon his faith that many or few, it was all alike to God.

It is easy to shout "halalleluah." When everyone is saying "Amen." It's another thing to stand by him when they curse him again and again.

You may have wondered why many who profess loyalty to Christ sadly fail him when the testing time comes. Paul acquaints Timothy with the reason: "Demas hath forsaken me, having loved this present world." That is it: the love of the world causes disloyalty to Christ. Jesus taught this when he said: "No man can serve two masters, for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to one and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and Mammon." (Matt. 6:24). Does this mean, if we are to be loyal to Christ we must give up everything in the world? That depends upon what is meant by everything. Surely, anything that comes in between Christ and us must be given up. And if we are loyal to him we will surrender all, that he may in turn "give us richly all things to enjoy." As those who love him and are wise, we will weigh the things of time in the balance of eternity, just as the gold hunter in the river bottom washes the dirt that he may find the pure metal, so we should carefully sift the things of the world that we may find the good and true. The builder of the world that we may find the good and true. The builder who rears the skyscraper tests every bit of material that goes into the structure; how much more important it is for us not to permit anything to enter our life that will weaken any part and cause us, when the stress and strain come, to be disloyal to Christ.

John Conlon, walking on the railway, caught his foot in a "frog" where two tracks crossed. He laughed at first but when he tried to extricate his foot, he found himself held fast. He heard a locomotive coming around the curve and redoubled his efforts but without avail, and the merciless monster crushed him to death. One thing, only one, held John Conlon, but it held him as securely as if he were bound to the track by a legion of soldiers. It may be just one thing; only one, that holds us from being loyal to Christ, and this one thing, as in the case of John Conlon, may prove fatal.

How shall we give up the things of the world which are so alluring? It is not by giving up but by getting, that a wrong love is displaced. If the love of Christ is permitted to flow into our hearts in all its fullness, it will displace the love of the world. "If any man love the world, the love of the father is not in him." This is evident, for two opposite loves cannot occupy the heart at the same time. The love given the right of way will crowd the other love out.

Let Christ in and the love of the world will be displaced.

The decennial census of the United States shows how the urban population is outgrowing the rural. The figures are startling. No comment is necessary. They speak for themselves. Thus in 1880 the proportion of the population living in cities of 25,000 and over was 17 per centum; 1890, 22 per centum; 1900, 26 per centum; 1910, 32 per centum. The director of census affirms that 1920 will show 50 per centum (plus) living in cities. Appeal used to be made to rural districts to help control the cities. But when the urban population outnumbered the rural, the appeal can no longer be made. As goes the American city, so goes America. Patriotic, philanthropic, Christian motives all impel to the evangelization of the city.

VETERAN MAN OF WAR TO BE BURNED TODAY

Frigate, Independence, Who Helped Make American History to Be Despoiled Off by Private Owner.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

San Francisco, March 26.—The Independence, oldest American man-of-war afloat will be burned for the sake of the copper in her hull and other metal fixings.

This decision has been reached by Capt. John Rinder of Berkeley who recently purchased the vessel at auction for $3515. The Independence is the last of the war frigates built for the navy in 1812 with England and is one of the most famous ships the American navy ever boasted. Her keel was laid down in 1812. In her day she was the fastest ship in the navy, what the most modern super-dreadnaughts is to the navies of today. She was the greatest fighting vessel afloat, boasting three decks and 74 guns. In 1848 she was around the Horn and for many years was used as a patrol ship on the Pacific coast. Her headquarters were at Mare Island and she was in active service until 1863 when she was officially declared obsolete and assigned to the Mare Island navy yard as a training ship. Last year the navy department decided to sell the famous old vessel. In spite of the protests by patriotic societies in all parts of the country, Capt. Rinder bought the frigate, intending to exhibit her at the Panama Pacific Exposition, but the plans fell through.

SINKING OF MESSUDIEH ADDED LITTLE GLORY TO ENGLISH SUBMARINE.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Constantinople, March 26.—In naval circles here it is maintained that little glory came to the British submarine which torpedoed the Messudieh at the entrance of the Dardanelles. The Messudieh is claimed, was at that time nothing but a hull, which had been stationed in those waters for the purpose of making the inspection of the entrance to the Dardanelles by means of searchlights possible. In addition naval circles claim that the British submarine did not dive through a mine field, because the Messudieh was stationed outside the field—several knots away from it, in fact.

How the Messudieh became a hull is a rather interesting story. On the two biggest guns in Turkey, two 9.2 inch 45 calibre Armstrongs, a little while before the outbreak of the European war the British Naval Mission reported that the Turkish Navy Department had the gun in question would have to undergo some modification and recommended that for this purpose they be shipped to the Armstrong works in England. This was done.

When the war broke out it was found that the Messudieh minus her heavy guns was of little use. It was then decided to take her secondary armament of twelve 6-inch pieces and her battery of fourteen 12-pounders ashore and with them several anti-torpedo boats and anti-mine layers which had been established. There was little the 10,000-ton vessel could be put to after that, and so it was decided to employ her powerful searchlights at the entrance to the Dardanelles.

SMUGGLING OF NEWSPAPERS CURTAILED BY EXECUTION OF DARING PAPER SELLER.

Rotterdam, March 26.—Brussels' supply of English newspapers which have to be smuggled across the border on account of the German prohibition against their importation, has been curtailed by the violent death of a daring Belgian who had for many weeks brought in 200 copies a day. He had made friends with a Bavarian sentry who, it is said, for a consideration, closed his eyes to the arrival of papers which the Belgian carried. A few days ago, however, the sentries were changed, and the Belgian was unable to persuade the Wurttemberg guard to let him pass. Waiting until nightfall, the newspaperman crawled under the barbed wire defense, and so doing exploded a mine, which literally blew him to pieces.

RICH DOPE VICTIMS HELPED; POOR SUFFER

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Dallas, Texas, March 26.—The wealthy victim can obtain relief by paying for treatment, but the thousands of the indigent must go on suffering and dying unless relieved," said Dr. J. Q. Spradlin, calling upon state and local authorities to act in the emergency created by the enforcement of the Harrison federal anti-dope law.

Calling the law one of the greatest blessings the country has ever known, Dr. Spradlin at the same time said a mistake was made in not providing treatment and relief for the unfortunate suddenly cut off from their "dope." "In a few weeks time most of them could be cured," he said. "That thousands are addicted to the drug habit and do not know it is the startling statement by Dr. Spradlin." "They have been having filled and refilled year in and year out," he said, "some prescriptions which have been found to afford relief from bodily suffering, and the physician who issued it is not aware they are still doing the prescription. Drug gists fill these prescriptions, not feeling that it is incumbent upon them to ask any questions."

DRYS AND WETS CLASH IN CHICAGO.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, March 26.—Prohibition will be made an issue in the mayoralty campaign, Arthur Burgrave, Furwell of the Dry Chicago Federation announced today. Representatives of the federation and the Chicago Law Enforcement League will call upon Democratic Nominee Robert M. Swift and Republican Nominee William Hale Thompson, asking their views on the "dry" issue and if they will stand for a strict enforcement of the prohibition law if the city votes dry April 3, 1916. "What we wish to establish is whether or not the successful candidate will promise prohibition if the dry wins," Farwell said. "We want both of them to pledge us they will enforce the law if it carries so we can be fortified against the argument that prohibition does not prohibit."
